It is people who understand this that have long been monetizing their favorite pastime. For some, this process was natural; others had to go through unfamiliar, uncomfortable wilds. For example, a person can create beautiful works of wood, but his upbringing prevents him from selling them. He gave a lot of crafts to all his relatives, neighbors, acquaintances, but could not afford to take money for it. How does hobby money start? How do I make money on a hobby? Where to begin? The first questions a beginner has. There is good news: if such questions arise, it means that you already have a hobby and desire, and with their help you can start making money. If not, you need to decide on your favorite pastime. What do you enjoy doing in your free time? Cooking, photography, design, reading, drawing, modeling, embroidery, walking, soldering, children, languages, editing, vocals, guitar, soap making absolutely any occupation can be turned into a profitable business.

It remains only to answer the main question are you ready to continue to do what you love more diligently, on a professional level? Attempts to make money in their favorite business for many end with the transition of part-time jobs to the category of basic earnings. When there is a family behind you, you must constantly do what you love, regardless of mood or desire. There are customers there is an obligation to them, they are waiting. If there is a family, there is an obligation to it, income is needed. An unobtrusive hobby can cease to be fun, become a routine. If this story is not about you, if this alignment is not frightening, and before your eyes grandiose plans to do your favorite, but still work, then you need to start by building a business plan. Earning a hobby requires activity planning. Before, you were ready to spend big money on your interests, just for the sake of getting aesthetic pleasure. Now the costs should justify themselves, bring commensurate profits. For all this, you need a plan that includes:

1. Costs of materials (this can be either source materials for the direct creation of the goods, or equipment).
2. For embroidery, fabric, threads, for manicure, varnishes, overlays, tools).
3. Now any consumable will cost tangible money, its price should be included in the cost of services or goods;
4. Time costs.
5. Your work time also costs money;
6. Related expenses: on advertising, delivery, rental of premises, equipment, payment of taxes.

All these points should be taken into account, any ruble spent must be compensated. But before drawing up a business plan you need to decide on the idea, its uniqueness. Yes, it's hard to be unique when thousands of people do the same. It seems, it remains only to merge into the stream, to go with the flow. But no, you simply must understand, to find what you are better than others, why should the client contact you? Geographical location? Unique style? Attitude? Bonuses? Contests? All this has the right to life. Just do not make the price of services your highlight this is not the right direction of thought! An income-generating hobby is great! But who will know about you if you continue to work for your pleasure without declaring yourself? Maximum relatives, close friends.

You just have to start with them! Offer them your services, not taking them for your work, but only covering their expenses. In response, ask to tell others about your business to whom it may be of interest start word of mouth. The next important step is to evaluate the effort spent taking into account the clients received. To attract new customers, run an advertising campaign. Before its launch, you must definitely get a personal website or a group of social networks. Decorate it beautifully, then contact a specialist for setting up contextual or targeted advertising.
